Public Comment on Dam Cost

by Norman Spaulding III

Last Thursday evening the Water District Board of Directors met to hear public comment on the Final Environmental Impact Report for the proposed new Los Padres Dam. While the 40 individuals present represented many diverse organizations, a concern common to virtually all the comments voiced was the dam cost projection of $87 million calculated in 1994 dollars as opposed to the year in which construction will begin and bonds to finance it will be issued.

"We are concerned that the true costs are unclear," said a representative from the Monterey Peninsula Property Owners Association. Another speaker added that the $87 million figure in the EIR "is a self-serving estimate engineered to deflate the monthly cost of the dam to county residents." The same individual also noted that the EIR estimate is $32 million lower than the $119 million figure offered to the public by the board just 3 months earlier in a workshop.

David Dilworth, a Peninsula resident, stated that he was concerned and angered that the dam would only solve the Peninsula's water problems for 20-30 years as estimated in the EIR. He said, "If it has taken 12 years and $10 million just to plan this solution and another 8 will pass before the dam is built, our problem is only really solved for 6-10 years, after which we will have to start planning all over again."

Don Boston of the Monterey County Hospitality Association, while voicing support for issuance of a 404 construction permit by the Army Corps of Engineers, claimed the dam would cost anywhere up to $220 million and admonished the Water Board for publishing the $87 million estimate in the EIR. "School is still out on the affordability of the dam," he said, "and the directors need to be above board on its cost."

Science and Photography Wing Opens

by Mary Beth Bowman

Carmel High School parents, teachers, students and school district administrators celebrated the unveiling of the new Science and Photography wing last week during an informal dedication and open house. The School combined official speeches with open classrooms to give visitors a good idea of the positive results that have sprung from last year's tragic fire.

Folks wandered in and out of Rooms 15, 16, 17 and 18 of the wing, admiring the new photo darkroom and cutting room equipment and trying out the revolving darkroom door. Each classroom teacher was on hand to guide visitors and answer questions.

Biology, Earth Science and Physical Science teacher Jodi Shaw seems tickled with some new features in her room, like a working heater. The room now has a built-in media cabinet, sliding dry erase marker boards and a handicapped lab station. Shaw said the additional, larger sinks help more with scheduling lab times so that more students get hands-on experiences rather than wait in lines to wash dishes.

Her appreciation was echoed by CHS student Christi Steuber, a junior, who takes Chemistry in classroom 17. Steuber recalled classes in her first semester that were held in the old drafting rooms. "It was pretty ridiculous," she said. "There was only one sink. (The teacher) did experiments and we watched." "I like the new equipment," Steuber said, but added that she did not think the school would have done anything about the previous equipment and facilities if it had not been for the fire.

Inside the Valley . . .

by Michelle L. Prejean
Student at Carmel Valley High School

I love to write haiku poems, especially at this time of the year when there are so many inspiring sights in Nature. Haiku, Japan's most widely used form of verse began in the thirteenth century, but did not become true form of poetry until the seventeenth century when the master Basho, a student of Zen Buddhism, refined the ancient form of verse.

The Haiku poem consists of seventeen syllables in three lines of five syllables, seven syllables, then five syllables, in that order. For example:

*white morning glories
a fresh ocean breeze soothes me here in the canyon*

A traditional subject for haiku poems is nature, but you can write them about anything, although it is good to keep it simple. As one teacher of Haiku that I met put it, "Write your Haiku Poems about a moment."

The poem above I wrote about Sobrantes Canyon in Big Sur after a field trip there with Valley High. Here is another one I wrote the other day about a very special place in Carmel Valley:

apple blossoms in the rain more precious than jewels.*

Solar Eclipse Warning

Don't directly view the May 10 solar eclipse or you risk losing your vision, warns the American Academy of Ophthalmology.

"Many people use sunglasses or other filtering devices to view the eclipse and think they're protected," according to Wayne Fung, MD, an ophthalmologist with California Pacific Medical Center in San Francisco. "Commercial sunglasses are not safe for looking in the sun, even if they claim to filter out all the ultraviolet light. People forget about the infrared light." And the infrared light, lying outside the red end of the visible spectrum, is the cause of potentially blinding eye damage.

The American Academy of Ophthalmology answers the most-asked questions about safe viewing of the eclipse:

1. What happens if you look directly at the eclipse? Direct eclipse watching can cause irreparable burns to the retina, the membrane at the back of the eye that transmits light images to the brain via the optic nerve. The actual injury leading to a blind spot is painless because it is not a thermal, or heat-based, reaction.

2. Does the American Academy of Ophthalmology advise against direct viewing of the eclipse? Yes, almost all devices are considered unsafe and are not recommended.

3. So, how do I get a look at the eclipse? Indirectly. You have at least two easy options: Call your local television stations and find out if the eclipse is being broadcast. You can watch it safely on television. Or, many science centers and planetariums schedule safe viewing of the eclipse with special equipment.

The path of the eclipse, a roughly 150-mile wide band from which the annulus can be seen, will stretch diagonally across North America, starting in central Baja, California, crossing the North Atlantic, and ending in Morocco. The rest of North America will see this event as a partial solar eclipse.

AN EVENT NOT TO BE MISSED!

Health Notes: In a recent issue of the Harvard Heart Letter, it reported a study of the benefits of garlic supplements. The study indicated that the use of the supplement in the form of powders or tablets did lower the blood cholesterol levels by about nine percent. Not as high as other studies have reported, but it did verify the reduction of blood cholesterol levels. What it was not able to ascertain was the specific effects on HDL (high density lipoprotein, or good) cholesterol. However, in summary the report felt that there was not enough conclusive evidence to suggest that you indulge yourself in garlic - at least not for health reasons.

Another study indicated that a six-minute walk can predict prognosis in heart failure. The study correlated that the patients who could not complete the six-minute walk test had a greater death rate in a follow-up period than those who did complete the test. It also reported that the risk of death within six months of a heart attack was five times higher in depressed patients than in non-depressed ones.

Speaking of heart attacks, the Harvard Heart Letter had this advice to give about the use of nitroglycerin for the relief of angina (the chest pain that indicates an insufficient blood supply to the heart): the substance of the article was on the relationship of the stinging sensation that one should get under his or her tongue when taking it. Apparently this can be a false signal, since newer tablets causing less irritating effects are available. Some of the don'ts about using it, however, are still true. Don't keep it in a refrigerator or near a kitchen sink since moisture weakens the potency of it. Don't keep it in a glove compartment of a car or too close to your body, since heat is also a "no-no." Keep it in a purse or a loose pocket and always have a back-up bottle just in case there is any doubt about the effectiveness of the first bottle.

In another publication issued by the John Hopkins Medical Institutions (who, by the way, claim that its hospital was rated the #1 hospital) had an interesting article on prostate cancer. A study bolsters the theory that there is a correlation between consuming red meat and prostate cancer. Men in the United States and other countries where an overabundance of fat is consumed were more likely to have advanced prostate cancer and to die from the disease. The cause is not definitely known, although it is suspected that carcinogens found when meat is cooked are responsible. Better watch those patio barbecues!

Seniors Plan Picnic at Posse Grounds

The call is out for donations to the 14th Annual Senior Picnic sponsored by the Alliance on Aging at the Sheriff's Posse Grounds in Salinas. This year's event, Wednesday, May 18, will offer over 100 prizes contributed by Monterey County Firms.

An added feature will be a "Blooming Bonnets" competition. Entrants will decorate their chapeaus in a Spring theme -- the Most Springy winner will receive a shopping certificate from Macy's, Monterey.

The day-long program starts at 9:30 a.m. with Bingo, horse shoes, music, square and line dancing. Barbecue service commencing at 12 noon precedes the prize drawings. Meal tickets are $2. for Receipts from the picnic go to support the Alliance on Aging "Meals for Seniors" program. Currently, the Alliance on Aging provides a nutritious daily lunch for some 500 seniors in Monterey County.

Seniors over 60, others lunch for $3.50. Thirteen Meal Connection centers and seven home delivery routes are funded through donation, grants, and special events.

WHAT'S NEXT? BY MEL VERCOE

To: Walt Pettit, Exec. Dir., State Water Resources Control Bd.

Dear Mr. Pettit,

Regarding the Salinas Valley seawater intrusion problem:

I expect you have been apprised by now that our project to irrigate farmland with reclaimed effluent would be able to offset up to 15% of the total intrusion problem. Its purported cost: $72 million.

The "rob Peter to pay Paul" well system in the general Soledad area ($128 million) could last longer than the Spreckels wells system, which had to be abandoned because it wasn't far enough upstream from the intrusion front. The storage capacity, as a reservoir, is an unknown, yet it is going to be the main element in supplying water to Prunedale, Salinas, Castroville, Marina, Fort Ord, and farmland in between. It won't be adding any new water.

The cost of the two projects, $200 million, won't be $200 million. The non-interest deal fell through. The total payback, if we can get a 5% loan for the proposed 38 years, will be $477,144,480.00, and we can make payments of $980,580 per month. That, of course, won't cover maintenance, management, electric power, pump and pipeline replacements, sewage filters, etc.

If the longtime planning that has gone into these two projects isn't any better than went into the Toothfairy Spreckels wells project, we are very likely to gain very little other than a bill for almost a half billion dollars.

We just don't have either enough money or enough time to continue playing games with this problem. After that seawater falls through a separation layer into our 400 foot main supply aquifer, there will be no reversing it, ever.

It doesn't have to happen. We know exactly what's causing it, over drafting. We know that big-money agriculture and big-money residential and commercial developers do 95% of the overdrafting.

We also know that our trusted county elected officials have found it politically expedient to look the other way for too many years, instead of acting on this intrusion problem. Even now, it's a closed shop. The general public is discouraged from taking part in meetings, and attempts to get through to these people with common sense are a waste of time.

Truly responsible elected officials would have, long before this, put aside personal popularity considerations long enough to enact and enforce an emergency moratorium to limit pumping sufficiently to save this valley from permanent loss. Continuing to obfuscate the problem with toothfairy proposals, one after another, and sinking us hopelessly into debt, just to stall for time, so a few people can continue profitable operations, is totally unconscionable.

So, it's more than an engineering problem. It's become about 20% engineering, and 80% irresponsible leadership.

Sincerely yours, Melvin J. Vercoe

Let's all feel sorry for the poor, abused criminals.

Which ones? Why, those who now are discovering that when we say "three strikes and you're out!" we actually mean it.

Two current cases - one is Santa Cruz County, the other in Monterey County - have brought mushbrained social do-gooders out of the woodwork, whimpering that society is mistreating the poor, down-trodden criminals being prosecuted.

In the words of General Macauliffe, of "Battle of the Bulge" fame: Nuts!

It's long past time that anti-social, law-breaking, repeat-offender criminals guilty of violent or serious felonies learned that finally - in California at least - crime really doesn't pay!

One felony arrest and conviction is enough to send a clear message to the criminal: Watch your step! A second conviction is indisputable proof that the criminal has nothing but disdain and contempt for society, and its laws.

If that criminal mentality is so indifferent to the lessons taught by our legal system the first two times, that he - or she - chooses to flaunt our laws by committing a third felony, and risk 25 years to life in prison, whose fault is it?

Not ours! His. Or Hers. Or Theirs. Every bit of evidence we have accumulated about criminal behavior proves, beyond doubt or argument, that individuals who begin with petty crimes and are not made to pay a sufficiently high price, eventually go on to commit more and more serious and violent crimes.

That misguided element of our society which reserves all its sympathies for the criminal should be required to visit a morgue, and view the slashed and mutilated bodies of murder victims. And be required to visit the hospital and witness the awful effect on a young girl or woman, of being violently raped. And visit homes where the occupants have been the victims of psychological rape, by having their homes invaded by burglars and thieves. And meet with kids who've worked and saved to buy a cherished bicycle, or first car, and have it stolen by some callous and hardened criminal whose concept of property rights is non-existent.

Sympathy for the three-time felony loser? Sorry, not me.

My sympathies will, instead, go to the victims of crime.

That's how it seems, from where I stand.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Editor, Carmel Valley Sun:

To meet current public school enrollment demands in Monterey County, more than $33,198,338 needs to be spent for new local school construction and modernization - an awesome challenge in these difficult economic times.

Proposition 1B, the "Safe Schools Initiative" on the June ballot, will help meet this challenge by providing the $1 billion in desperately needed bond money for new school construction, modernization and safety improvements in school districts throughout California - without raising taxes.

Proposition 1B was put on the ballot by the Legislature with overwhelming bipartisan support. The measure is backed by educators, business leaders, law enforcement and taxpayer groups who understand the magnitude of California's public school crisis.

Student violence, crowded classrooms and unsafe school buildings are a cruel reality facing many children in California today. Over 170,000 new students are entering the state's school system every year - with 1.2 million additional students anticipated by the end of the decade.

Experts agree bonds are a responsible way to finance long-term projects like schools - and with current low interest rates, bonds are a great deal for taxpayers. Studies show that for every $1 billion invested in school construction projects, over 30,000 permanent California jobs created in construction, the service industry and manufacturing.

For the sake of California's future, we encourage you to support Proposition 1B - the Safe Schools Initiative.

Sincerely,

Marian Bergeson, State Senator (Rep)

and

Leroy Green, State Senator (Dem)

Editor, Carmel Valley Sun:

It is amazing that the US has one of the lowest rates of childhood immunization of all nations, and that this trend is true even here in Monterey County.

Young children need immunizations against 9 dangerous diseases, such as whooping cough and measles, polio and hepatitis B. With shots at 2, 4, 6, 12, and 15 months of age, plus a booster before kindergarten, children are protected. Without these shots, they are at risk of disease, suffering, possible disability, even death, and of spreading these risks to other children around them.

Of all the problems facing today's children, this is one that parents have control over, yet, despite low-cost, even free, immunization, over half our young children are not fully immunized.

Pediatricians' offices can provide shots to their young patients, and the Monterey County Health Department, with support from the Children's Miracle Network, now has low-cost clinics in 7 different cities throughout the County.

The 10 Kiwanis Clubs in communities around Monterey County have joined hands with the Health Department to launch an on-going Immunization Awareness Campaign involving local media, stores, and community programs. During May, the Health Department will offer FREE IMMUNIZATIONS to all County children under age 3. For clinic locations and schedules, people can call 755-4500 in Salinas, 647-7670 in Monterey or 385-1291 in King City.

Your readers can help too! If they have young children or grandchildren, they need to be sure they're immunized. They can discuss this with neighbors, co-workers, members of their churches and community groups, customers of their businesses. Employers can encourage their employees with young children, maybe offer them an hour off or help with transportation if that would help.

It's been said that it takes a whole community to raise a child. If each reader of this letter takes the initiative to help one additional child be immunized, think what a difference that could make. We'll never know just which child's life might have been improved, or even saved, as a result of our actions, will we?

For other ideas, or flyers, call us at 625-9414. "All their shots while they're tots!!!"

Larry Levine, Chair
10-Club Kiwanis Immunization
Awareness Campaign

Scouts Hit Storm Drains

R.J. Ward, a Life Scout with Troop 127 in Carmel Valley, lead a group of Boy Scout volunteers in an Eagle Service Project Sunday, April 24.

The project involved painting the words Do Not Dump, Flows to the Bay on all the storm drains in Sand City. The goal is to keep harmful chemicals out of Monterey Bay, and to promote the recycling of motor oil and other substances.

R.J. planned this project in cooperation with the Storm Drain Committee of Monterey County. Originally planned for Saturday, April 23, Earth Day, the scouts were rained out and had to regroup Sunday morning under dry but overcast skies. Ten Scouts and five adult leaders worked on the project. Later, they passed informational leaflets to shoppers in the Costco shopping center in order to bring this environmental issue to the attention of area residents.

All Eagle Scout candidates must plan and carry out a community service project, and R.J. felt this would be a great benefit to the entire Monterey Bay community.

Foster Teens Earn Money

On May 18, some local teens will have a chance to spend their hard earned money at the ILS Honors Dinner and Auction which will be held at Hartnell Community College. In just 7 months, they've earned more than $35,000!

Since last October, a group of about 30 local teens in foster care has been working to get ready for the day they leave foster care and begin to make their own way in the world. Not an easy task at any age, but decidedly tougher if you've just turned 18.

These kids are in a special program offered through Monterey County Department of Family and Children's Services. ILS is an upbeat and fun program which helps teens reach for success in achieving education and career goals.

Teens earn ILS Value Bucks as an incentive for completing a semester of high school, getting a job, getting awards of recognition at school or from an employer, raising a GPA, visiting colleges, participating in extracurricular activities, saving money, and many other activities that are geared toward helping them build the skills they'll need as independent adults.

The ILS Honors Dinner and Auction is open to the public. It is an excellent opportunity to meet and encourage some terrific young people. Tickets are $12. Call 647-9123 for reservations or additional information.

Scuba Classes

New SCUBA classes begin on May 9th and May 10th at the CVCYC pool and run 4 weeks.

Class sizes are limited to 8 per class and require a non-refundable $25. deposit to reserve a place.

The cost of $250 for CVCYC members of $270 for non-members includes everything: masks, fins, wet suits, SCUBA gear.

The May 9th course meets on Mondays and Wednesdays, and the May 10th class meets Tuesdays and Thursdays. All classes run from 7:30 to 10:00 p.m. Call now to reserve your place. 659-3983 or 659-9373 (FAX).

Magic Circle Theatre

In a debut performance, Magic Circle Theatre of Carmel presents Talking With by Jane Martin.

According to Director Elsa Con, Talking With is a "collection of monologues for eleven bizarre and eccentric women. Together they create a rollercoaster that alternately moves us, frightens us, makes us roar with laughter... while always speaking from their souls."

Ms. Con is a licensed psychologist in private practice in Carmel who returns to producing and directing after twenty years away from the theatre.

Performances will begin April 29 and continue through May 22 at the Carl Cherry Center for the Arts, Guadalupe and 4th Streets, in Carmel. Friday and Saturday performances begin at 8 p.m., and Sunday performances are at 2 p.m.

Local favorites in the cast include Rosemary Thompson, Barbara Zito, Marlie Avant, Jani Davis, Sandy Sidner, Jennifer Forbes, Jill Jackson, Artemis Ledesma, and Nancy Kocher.

Advance tickets are available through Bay Books Ticket Outlet in Monterey; tickets are also available at the door (doors open one-half hour before performance time). Tickets are $11/general and $10./seniors and students. Call 624-4943 for further information.

SHERIFF'S LOG

- A Carmel Highlands man reported that someone shot a pellet through the front window between 4/13 and 4/15 when no one was at home. Damage is in the excess of $1,000.
- The assistant manager at Chamisal Tennis Club reported a burglary to the club's storage shed.
- Pebble Beach Security requested help with two drunks at the Pebble Beach Golf Course driving range. A Modesto woman was arrested for public intoxication, and her husband was arrested for DUI.
- A Pebble Beach woman reported that her son was standing in the roadway in his underwear, hollering. He was transported to and lodged in Natividad.
- 4-18 A Cathedral City man reported losing his wallet on Carmel Rancho Blvd., about 4 p.m. Later the man reported that his friends found the wallet.
- A Carmel man complained that a construction crew working at the house next door dug a drainage ditch partly on his property. It turned out that the ditch was for utilities, and would be filled in later.
- 4-19 At a bar in Cachagua, a confrontation between a man and a woman, both of Carmel Valley, led to the woman hitting the man, causing no injuries. The woman then left the bar, but not before breaking a window in the bar. The bar owners requested charges for the broken window, but the man and woman refused to prosecute each other over the assault.

- CHOMPEmergency Room reported that two Cachagua men had been involved in a fight. One man had injured his hand, and declined to make a report.
- A Pebble Beach man reported finding a safe in a wooded area between Highway 68 and Haul Road. Safe is a Sentry Value Guard brand, and appears to have been there about five years, and is too heavy to bring out.

4-20 An employee of a local attorney reported that a client of the attorney received some documents through the mail from "Publishers Awards Center, Inc.," advising that she was a winner, and when she called, they requested her bank account number, which she gave them.

- A Carmel Hills woman called to say that her ex-husband is in violation of a child custody order.
- A Carmel Valley man was contacted after his wife called from North Hollywood to report he was upset and possibly suicidal over their now-pending separation. The wife said he may use a pistol he had in his room. The pistol was seized for the man's safety and the man was allowed to remain at home after determining that he would not fall into the 5150 W&I code. The pistol will be returned to him before ten days.
- During foot patrol of the Carmel Valley Center, an open door was found. An interior check of the business revealed nothing suspicious. The owner was contacted and advised. He stated that since the business was due to open in an hour he would not respond to lock the door.
- 4-21 While on patrol in the village, two subjects were seen running into the dark. A further check on foot revealed a suspect hiding in the bushes on the West side of a liquor store. The suspect gave false information and had no ID. He was booked into jail under John Doe for the time being.
- A Pebble Beach man reported receiving annoying phone calls wherein the caller hangs up when the phone is answered.
- A Carmel woman reported that someone entered her locked garage between 9 and 9:30 the previous night. No suspect information.

- A Carmel man called to report that his son, 22, was overdue from a bike ride. His son came home later, safe and sound.
- A Monte Sereno, CA, man reported his vehicle was burglarized while it was parked at the Old Del Monte Golf Course. The vehicle was locked, but no forced entry noted. Portable items were taken.
- A San Francisco man reported the theft of about $5,000 worth of camera gear he had left unattended at the Laguna Seca Racetrack.
- A citizen turned in a camera he found in the Spanish Bay area to Pebble Beach security.
- A Cachagua woman reported that a neighbor's dog jumped her fence and ate one of her chickens.
- A problem was reported between two Cachagua neighbors.
- 4-22 A 15 year old Hidden Hills girl reported getting into a fight with her mother at their residence after her mother and step-father refused to provide her with medical attention after she sprained her thumb during a softball game.
- A Carmel grocery clerk detained a Santa Maria man for putting 16 packages of baseball cards into his jacket while still in a shopping aisle. No further action was taken because the subject didn't leave the store.

Traveling From The Valley

by John des Forges

A series of articles on the joys and heartbreaks of the travel business.

PUB NAMES

Pubs are Public Houses -- private houses to which the public are admitted. The owner of the house admitted the public to his abode so that he could sell to them his home-brewed beer, or cider. It is a simple and long established idea; Chaucer's pilgrims were forgathered at the "Tabard Inn" in Southwark in the 1300s. A couple of centuries before that crusaders met at a pub, now known as "The Trip to Jerusalem," built into the sandstone rock below Nottingham Castle -- Robin Hood and his Merry Men could have had a hand in excavating the man-made caves that run under the old town.

Pilgrimages were the only form of extended holiday (originally holy day) that the ordinary folk could take. Pubs were for refreshment; at an inn you could stay overnight. Some of the bigger inns were more like our idea of a hotel (French word that originally described a large private town house); at Glastonbury, where the abbey was a huge place of pilgrimage, a medieval inn survives as The George & Pilgrim Hotel - complete with ghost.

Certain other pubs also have associations with the crusades. If you come across one called the Lamb & Flag, there is a chance it is one where crusaders assembled. The white lamb has one of her front legs bent at the knee with her foot off the ground holding the staff of a white flag with a red cross on it: St. George's Cross. The lamb and flag was the emblem of the Knights Templars, an order of knights founded in the early 1100s to safeguard pilgrims to Jerusalem.

By the time the order was officially suppressed by the Pope in Council in 1314, they owned magnificent property on the edge of London, which they then had to abandon, just in time for the up and coming legal profession to occupy. The lawyers divided their Temple into three parts, naming them Inner, Middle or Outer Temple, two of which survive as Inns of Court - using the word "inn" to describe a place where people can stay, though here it refers to accommodations for lawyers rather than for pilgrims.

In England today one can chance upon very old-looking pubs that are called simply "The New Inn." When Henry VIII directed that his Commissioners confiscate monastic lands and property, it was also directed that any pubs named for the Virgin Mary or Our Lady were to be renamed The New Inn; even by then, the 1530s, the distinction between an inn and a pub was becoming blurred.

I was particularly pleased one day recently when I was motoring in Somerset, to come across a pub sign that proclaimed the tavern (Latin word for a pub) until recently known as The New Inn was hereby reverting to its original name: "The Inn of Our Lady." The landlord told me that it was his decision to take up the old name again, even though the pub, as with so many of them in the last hundred years, now belongs to a brewery.

Many pub names reflect the names or emblems of the landed families that not only owned the pub, but the whole village as well. The pub in "my" village in Yorkshire is known as "The Spread" among the locals. The family emblem is an eagle with her wings spread out, so instead of calling the pub, say, "The Blank Arms," it was named the Spread Eagle. I enjoy arranging to meet people "Up at tSpread." (Yes, that t before the S is meant to be there; Yorkshire folk elide the to a t!) Excellent company around lovely open coal fires on winter's evenings and fine Yorkshire bitter to boot.

Kennel Club Holds Show

The Del Monte Kennel Club holds its show within the 17 Mile Drive which winds its way through Del Monte Forest.

This year the Club's all-breed dog show and obedience trial on the lawn in front of the Lodge at Pebble Beach on Saturday, May 14th. This event, chaired by Mrs. May Carpenter, will feature over 600 Blue Ribbon winners and champions representing over 100 different breeds competing in this Classic of the Pacific.

A distinguished panel of American Kennel Club judges will be headed by Mrs. George Wanner, Sr., who will be judging Best in Show. The panel of judges includes Mr. and Mrs. Pete Dawkins, Mrs. Barbara Heller, and Dr. Robert Indeglia in the Conformation rings. The Obedience will be judged by Mr. and Mrs. Pat Alvarez, while Miss Jessica Carlson will judge Junior Showmanship.

The Del Monte Kennel Club encourages spectators to talk with the many handlers, owners and breeders at the show, to learn more about the temperament, care needs, and special qualities of the breeds that interest them. The opportunity to tap this wealth of canine expertise is one of the unique advantages a dog show offers spectators and prospective dog owners.

Judging in the Conformation and obedience rings will begin at 9 a.m. Variety groups judging will begin at 3 p.m., followed by Best in Show at 5 p.m. A special event will take place during the lunch break.

Admission to the show is $10. for adults, $5. for children (ticket price includes Pebble Beach gate fee). Tickets may be purchased at the Pebble Beach gates on the day of the show or in advance for $8. at Total Dog across from the Barnyard, Derek Rayne in Downtown Carmel, Suds and Scissors in the Crossroads, Pet Pals in Marina and Madrigal in Carmel Plaza. Proceeds from the show will benefit the Quota Club of Carmel's service projects for the hearing impaired.

Clean Air Buses

Monterey-Salinas Transit has been awarded a grant of $1.2 million from the Monterey Bay Unified Air Pollution Control District to begin converting its bus fleet to operate on compressed natural gas (CNG).

Jim Collins, Chair of the MST Board of Directors, said, "We are delighted that the Air District has recognized the importance of investing in infrastructure for cleaner fuels. By moving forward with CNG for the bus fleet, MST continues to lead the way for introduction of alternative fuels in the air basin."

According to Collins, the grant will allow MST to proceed with a CNG fueling facility, safety upgrades for maintenance shops, and natural gas engines for seven new buses soon to be ordered. "Over the next several years we hope to convert the rest of the fleet to clean-burning natural gas," said Collins.

The $1.2 million grant is part of a longer range plan to reduce emissions and to improve and maintain air quality in the region. Each CNG bus will reduce emissions by .85 tons a year. Natural gas engines will also comply with federal- and state-mandated standards for heavy-duty vehicle emissions.

MST already operates a fleet of support vehicles which run on natural gas. The transit agency is part of a consortium that is developing the Ryan Ranch CNG fueling station in Monterey.

Modifications to MST facilities could commence later this year. The first CNG-powered buses are expected to be in service before the end of 1995.

Burn Season Ends

April 30 was the end of the 1994 backyard burn season in Monterey and Santa Cruz counties.

The close of the season, which annually runs from December 1st through the end of April, affects both backyard home burning and the burning of cleared wood and brush for commercial or home developments.

The Monterey Bay Unified Air Pollution Control District regulates open burning because the smoke adds pollutants to the North Central Coast Air Basin.

Open burning is banned during the Summer and Fall months when ozone is most likely to form in the atmosphere.

This regulation does not affect the normal use of barbecues, recreational fires, and fire places within the home.

For additional information on open burning in the tri-county area, call (408) 647-9411.

REAL ESTATE BY RAND SMITH

With so many homes for sale these days, it's easy to wonder why sellers continue to insist on overpricing their properties.

Because it takes months and months to sell, and not a big percentage reach the contract stage, why don't sellers believe their agent when it comes to setting the price?

Some of the reasons obviously relate to lack of motivation. Others are: wanting to test the market; advice from a "know-it-all" uncle; greed; agents who take unrealistically priced listings.

This raises still another question: How much profit (gain) should one expect on a home purchase? Investment properties have easy, quick formulas to measure current and future probabilities when it comes to evaluating the pros and cons of the investment. But that's not the case with a private residence.

Some have suggested that if you've owned your home for some time, say 25 years, a 9.5 percent annual return would be "normal." But what if you bought your home after January 1990?

Sorry, the market cycle has turned against you. You'll be lucky just to break even. If you don't sell your home because you overpriced it over the objections of your agent, percentages and formulas don't mean anything anyway.

Credibility and trust

A non-scientific survey has been conducted by a national speaker during the past few years. He asked his varied audiences to rank 18 occupations/professions. In order of finish, here's the results:

1. Clergy. 2. Airline pilot. 3. School teacher. 4. Firefighter. 5. Engineer. 6. Doctor. 7. Electrician. 8. Small business owner. 9. Police officer. 10. Accountant. 11. Plumber. 12. Real estate sales. 13. Stockbroker. 14. Insurance sales. 15. Attorney. 16. Auto sales. 17. Politician. 18. Auto repair.

He's been doing this for years and says that while the positions at the bottom change somewhat, they seldom do at the top.

The opinion is that people in the top five or six fields have strong credibility. There's an automatic, implicit trust. It's an outrage to hear of a disreputable teacher or a dishonest doctor.

Some agents allow themselves to be dictated to, because the seller wants a certain price. Frankly, they might better serve the owner by suggesting they not try to move until the market improves.

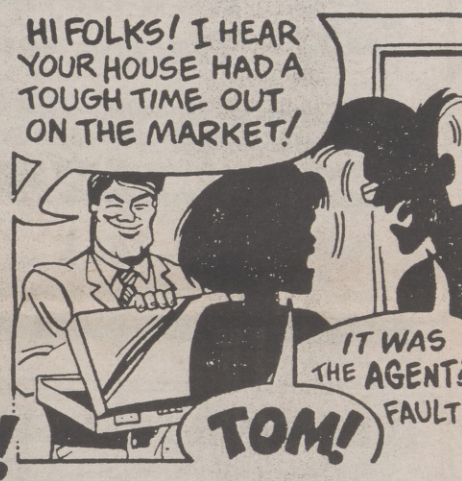

Credibility, trust and respect. We all know what they can mean. Can we achieve them? Look at the list again. At least real estate people finish higher than other occupations. Try your own rating game. Why you do position your ranking in the order you choose? It's trust, isn't it?

Spring Concert at CHS

Friday, May 6, Carmel High School will present "Somewhere in Time," its Spring Concert at 7:30 in the Sunset Center, Carmel.

Included on the evening's program are the String Ensemble, Cello and Violin Solos, a Flute Duet, the Carmel High Jazz Ensemble, and the Concert Wind Ensemble.

Dick Robins is the Music Director, and the Master of Ceremonies will be Barney Laiolo, former Mayor of Carmel.

The community is invited to attend the program and support the music department through a donation. A reception will follow.

The dam cost is a critical issue for the water board because the Army Corps of Engineers requires that the dam be the most cost effective and least environmentally damaging proposal for issuance of the essential 404 permit. Deflated or inaccurate cost projections, especially when combined with the Esselen Indians' assertion that the dam will destroy over twenty ancient villages and sacred sites, could pose sufficient financial and environmental grounds for denial of a 404.

"It is easier to do experiments now," CHS senior Dan Silver remarked. Before, he said, "things were run down... we had to make do." Silver, along with other Physics classmates, helped make the open house a learning experience for visitors by demonstrating various physics projects. Seniors Genesta Cowen, Micah Lande, and Joe Sheedy, along with junior Carrie Tate and others, would take turns explaining to "customers" their individual projects.

The physical laws governing center of mass, centrifugal force, electricity, waves (of water), magnetic polarization and color shades that complement each other were all well-represented by the enthusiastic scholars. Meanwhile, parents took the opportunity to chat with teachers and with each other.

IRS Will Talk For Lunch

The 1994 tax season is over, but the IRS wants you to know that they have public speakers available year 'round for presentations to community groups on a variety of tax topics.

Perhaps your club or organization would like to hear about retirement issues, or small business tax obligations, or maybe how to prepare for an audit.

IRS speakers have put on presentations for specialized audiences such as day care providers, payroll associations, senior citizen clubs, or church and social service organizations.

If your group of 25 members or more is interested in securing an IRS speaker, contact the Taxpayer Education Office in San Jose at (408) 291-7114 or fax your request to: TPEC, 408-291-7024.
